

Are the Romans Ancient History?

For our first term, Blue Class will be exploring Ancient Rome!

We will start by looking at what life was like in Rome from everyday clothing to lifestyle, culture and schooling. We will use our knowledge to create Did You Know...? fact cards to display information in class.

After that, we will look at the Romans as invaders, focusing on their army, territory, initial unsuccessful attempts such as Julius Caesar's effort to invade Britain and Claudius's victory. We shall look at British resistance including Boudicca as well as the creation of Hadrian's Wall. The children will summarise their learning by creating PowerPoint presentation including their facts and animations!

To complete the Autumn term, we will look at the lasting effects of Roman life in Britain including the culture, beliefs and technological influences left from Roman rule to answer the question 'Are the Romans Ancient History?'. We will create mosaics based on Roman culture and these will be displayed physically in school and digitally available online for visitors to Blue Class webpage to observe!
