

Design a Zoo

You are involved with planning and developing a new zoo for your local area. You will need to complete a number of tasks to ensure that the zoo is successful.

You must:

- decide which animals you will keep at your zoo;
- think about the habitats that you need to create for each one;
- draw a map to show where the animal enclosures and facilities for visitors are located;
- choose a name and design a sign for your zoo.

For each enclosure you must research and write an information label for the animal that lives there.

It must include:

- animal name;
- where it lives in the wild (including a map to show where the countries are located);
- information about its natural habitat;
- how it is adapted to its habitat;
- what the animal eats;
- any interesting facts.

You can use the information cards to help you, or design your own.
