Homework guide for Parents

Welcome to the Maths of the Day homework activities. Here you will find a wealth of different activities for each year group, all designed to complement your child's learning in school, in a fun and active way. Simply click on Homework, select the year group, select the area of maths, and under Lessons you will see a choice of activities. You can download them as PDFs, print them, or view them on your tablet or device. Then you will be able to support your child with their active maths homework.

We have tried to allow for different settings and home environments. Most activities can take place indoors or outdoors. There is a minimal amount of equipment needed, and this will be either things you will have at home, or cards and help sheets that can be printed off at school or home. Generally, the bigger the space your child can use, the better – they'll be getting more exercise that way.

Each homework activity has a key learning objective, a fun title, detailed instructions, and an extension (challenge) activity.
Your teacher may set particular activities for the class or your child regularly, or you can choose to select different activities for your child as the time and circumstances suit, maybe in the school holidays, for example.

Happy Homeworking!

We welcome feedback at maths@motd.org.uk and please follow us on twitter @MathsoftheDay – tweet us what your child is up to!

@MathsoftheDay
maths@motd.org.uk

